Background and Summary

Title 12 USC 85 regulates the maximum rate of interest that national banks may charge on most types of loans. Banks that charge a higher rate violate the law and may trigger the penalties for usury described in 12 USC 86.

General Rule

Section 85 authorizes national banks to charge interest on loans at the rates allowed by the states in which the bank is located. A national bank is considered to be located in states in which it has either its main office or a branch. If state law permits state lenders to make loans without interest rate limitations, then national banks may make the same types of loans without interest rate limitations.

Additions to the General Rule

Section 85 also provides that on all loans, national banks may charge 1 percent more than the discount rate on 90-day commercial paper in effect at the Federal Reserve bank in the district in which the bank is located. For example, if the discount rate is 7 percent, national banks may charge 8 percent, discounted in advance, without regard to state usury laws.<sup>1</sup>

Definition of Interest

Section 85 applies state limits not only on the numerical periodic rate of interest that is charged on a loan, but also on other charges that are considered to be part of interest for purposes of section 85. Under 12 CFR 7.4001, these include late fees, over limit fees, annual fees, cash advance fees, and membership fees (Smiley v. Citibank, 517 U.S. 735 (1996)). In addition, the OCC has determined that certain other fees are included in interest, such as account opening fees and prepayment fees (OCC Interpretive Letter Nos. 803 and 744, issued in OCC Interpretations and Actions in October 1997 and October 1996, respectively). State law restrictions on how interest is calculated also apply to national banks. For instance, state laws governing compounding of interest on loans apply to national banks as a result of section 85.

<sup>1</sup> Section 85 also provides that when no rate is set by the state (other than when state lenders may make loans without interest rate limitations as described above) a national bank may not charge more than 1 percent more than the discount rate on 90-day commercial paper in effect at the Federal Reserve bank in the district in which the bank is located, or 7 percent, whichever is greater. However, this law generally will not apply, because courts have found that this provision does not apply if the state law merely states that the parties can agree on the interest rate or when a state law providing a maximum interest rate is nonexistent.

Most Favored Lender Status

Under section 85, a national bank may charge the maximum rate of interest permitted by state law for any state-chartered or state-licensed lending institution. A national bank that charges a higher interest rate on a specified class of loans, as allowed by state law, is subject to the provisions relative to that class of loans that are material to the determination of the interest rate. For example, when a state law allows finance companies to charge 20 percent on certain loans, but limits state banks to 16 percent, national banks may charge 20 percent. However, national banks would be limited to charging the higher rate only on the same size and type of loans that finance companies are allowed to make. For example, if state law allowed 20 percent on the first $500 on open-end credit accounts and 18 percent thereafter, a national bank lending $800 could charge no more than 20 percent for the first $500 and no more than 18 percent on the remaining $300.

Exportation of Interest Rates

Title 12 USC 85 permits national banks to charge interest rates as permitted by a state in which the bank is located. For an intrastate bank, that is the state where its main office is located. For an interstate bank, that also generally will be the state in which the bank has its main office though, in some circumstances, an interstate national bank may be required, or may have the authority, to charge rates permitted by a state in which one or more of its branches is located.<sup>2</sup> (OCC Interpretive Letter Nos. 822 and 782, issued in OCC Interpretations and Actions in March 1998 and June 1997, respectively). This is referred to as interest rate exportation. For example, banks frequently issue credit cards to consumers who live in a state other than where the bank is located. In these situations, a consumer living in a state that limits annual <sup>2</sup> Additional interest rate authority applies to national banks with a main office in Arkansas (12 USC 1831u(f)).

Background and Summary

The Fair Debt Collection Practices Act (FDCPA) (15 USC 1692), which became effective March 20, 1978, was designed to eliminate abusive debt collection practices. The law also ensures that reputable debt collectors are not competitively disadvantaged and encourages consistent state action to protect consumers from abuses in debt collection.

Covered Debt

The FDCPA applies only to the collection of debt incurred by a consumer primarily for personal, family, or household purposes. It does not apply to the collection of corporate debt or to debt owed for business or agricultural purposes (15 USC 1692a(5)).

Covered Debt Collectors

Under the FDCPA, a “debt collector” is defined as any person who regularly collects, or attempts to collect, consumer debts for another person or institution, or uses a name other than its own when collecting its consumer debts (15 USC 1692a(6)).

That definition would include, for example, a bank that regularly collects debts for an unrelated institution. This includes reciprocal service arrangements in which one institution solicits the help of another in collecting a defaulted debt from a customer who has moved.

Debt Collectors Not Covered

A bank is not a debt collector under the FDCPA when it collects:

- Another's debts only in isolated instances (15 USC 1692a(6)).
- Its own debts under its own name (15 USC 1692a(6)).
- Debts it originated and sold, but continues to service (e.g., mortgage and student loans) (15 USC 1692a(6)(F)(ii)).
- Debts that were not in default when obtained by the bank (15 USC 1692a(6)(F)(iii)).
- Debts that were obtained as security for a commercial credit transaction involving the bank (e.g., accounts receivable financing) (15 USC 1692a(6)(F)(iv)).
- Debts incidental to a bona fide fiduciary relationship or escrow arrangement (e.g., a debt held in the bank's trust department or mortgage loan escrow for taxes and insurance) (15 USC 1692a(6)(F)(i)).
- Debts collected for other institutions to which it is related by common ownership or corporate control, if the bank collects these debts only for those institutions and the principal business of the bank is not debt collection (15 USC 1692a(6)(B)).

Debt collectors who are not covered include:

- Bank officers or employees who collect debts owed to that bank in its name (15 USC 1692a(6)(A)).
- Legal process servers in connection with the judicial enforcement of a debt ((15 USC 1692a(6)(D)).
- Although a bank is not a debt collector for purposes of the FDCPA in the above-noted circumstances, a bank should keep in mind the standards of the FDCPA so as to avoid allegations that it is engaging in unfair or deceptive acts or practices within the meaning of section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (12 USC 45), as enforced by the OCC through 12 USC 1818.

Communications for Debt Collection

For communications with a consumer or third party about the collection of a debt, the term “consumer” is defined to include the borrower’s spouse, parent (if the borrower is a minor), guardian, executor, or administrator (15 USC 1692c(d)).

Communicating With the Consumer

A debt collector may not communicate with the consumer at any unusual time (generally before 8 a.m. or after 9 p.m. in the consumer’s time zone) or at any place inconvenient to the consumer, unless the consumer or a court of competent jurisdiction has given prior permission to do so (15 USC 1692c(a)(1)).

A debt collector may not contact the consumer at his or her place of employment if the collector has reason to know the employer prohibits such communications (15 USC 1692c(a)(3)).

If the debt collector knows the consumer has retained an attorney to handle the debt, and can easily ascertain the attorney’s name and address, all contacts must be with that attorney, unless the attorney is unresponsive or consents to direct communication with the consumer (15 USC 1692c(a)(2)).

Ceasing Communication With the Consumer

When a consumer refuses, in writing, to pay a debt or requests that the debt collector cease further communication, the collector must do so, except to advise the consumer that either:

- The collection effort is being stopped or
- Certain specified remedies ordinarily invoked may be pursued or, if appropriate, that a specific remedy will be pursued (15 USC 1692c(c)).

Mailed notices from the consumer are official when they are received by the debt collector.

Communicating With Third Parties

Unless the consumer or a court of competent jurisdiction provides otherwise, a debt collector may contact only the following parties when trying to collect a debt:

- The consumer.
- The consumer's attorney.
- A consumer reporting agency (if permitted by law).
- The creditor.
- The creditor's attorney.
- The debt collector's attorney (15 USC 1692c(b)).

A debt collector who is unable to locate a consumer may ask a third party for the consumer's home address, telephone number, and place of employment (location information). The debt collector must give his or her name and state that he or she is confirming or correcting location information about the consumer. Unless specifically asked, the debt collector may not name the collection firm or agency. Even if asked, the debt collector may not reveal that the consumer owes any debt (15 USC 1692b(1) and (2)).

No third party may be contacted more than once unless the collector believes that the information from the first contact was wrong or incomplete and that the third party has since received better information, or unless the third party specifically requests additional contact (15 USC 1692b(3)).

A debt collector may not contact any third party by postcard. Contact by letter or telegram is allowed only if the envelope or content of the communication does not indicate the nature of the collector's business (15 USC 1692b(4) and (5)).

A debt collector may not communicate with third parties regarding location information about the consumer after the debt collector learns that the consumer is represented by an attorney (15 USC 1692b(6)).

Validation of Debts

The debt collector must provide the consumer with certain basic information. Within five days of a debt collector's initial communication with a consumer, he or she must send the consumer a written notice containing:

- The amount of the debt.
- The name of the creditor to whom the debt is owed.
- Notice that the consumer has 30 days to dispute the debt, or any portion thereof, before the debt collector will assume the debt to be valid.
- Notice that upon such written dispute, the debt collector will send the consumer a verification of the debt or a copy of any judgment.
- Notice that, if within the 30-day period the consumer makes a written request for the name and address of the original creditor, if it is different from the current creditor, the debt collector will provide that information (15 USC 1692g(a)).

If within the 30-day period the consumer disputes in writing any portion of the debt or requests the name and address of the original creditor, the collector must stop all collection efforts until he or she mails to the consumer a copy of a judgment or verification of the debt, or the name and address of the original creditor (15 USC 1692g(b)).

Prohibited Practices

Harassment or Abusive Practices

A debt collector, in collecting a debt, may not harass, oppress, or abuse any person. Specifically, a debt collector may not (15 USC 1692d):

- Use or threaten to use violence or other criminal means to harm the physical person, reputation, or property of any person.
- Use obscene, profane, or other language that abuses the hearer or reader.
- Publish a list of consumers who allegedly refuse to pay their debts (except to a consumer reporting agency or to a legitimate user of consumer reports, as respectively defined under 15 USC 1681a(f) or 1681b(3) (sections 603(f) and 604(a)(3) of the Fair Credit Reporting Act)).
- Advertise a debt for sale to coerce payment.
- Annoy, abuse, or harass persons by repeatedly calling their telephone numbers and engaging the person in telephone conversations.
- Make telephone calls without properly identifying himself or herself, except as allowed to obtain location information about the consumer from third parties.

False or Misleading Representations

A debt collector, in collecting a debt, may not use any false, deceptive, or misleading representation. Specifically, a debt collector may not (15 USC 1692e):

- Falsely represent or imply that he or she is vouched for, bonded by, or affiliated with the United States or any state, including the use of any badge, uniform, or similar identification.
- Falsely represent the character, amount, or legal status of the debt, or of any services rendered, or compensation he or she may receive for collecting the debt.
- Falsely represent or imply that he or she is an attorney or that communications are from an attorney.
- Threaten to take any action that cannot be legally taken or that is not intended to be taken.
- Falsely represent or imply that nonpayment of any debt will result in the arrest or imprisonment of any person or the seizure, garnishment, attachment, or sale of any property or wages of any person, unless such action is lawful and intended by the debt collector or creditor.
- Falsely represent or imply that the sale, referral, or other transfer of the debt will cause the consumer to lose a claim or a defense to payment, or become subject to any practice prohibited by the FDCPA.
- Falsely represent or imply that the consumer committed a crime or other conduct to disgrace the consumer.
- Communicate, or threaten to communicate, false credit information or information that is, or should be, known to be false, including not identifying disputed debts as such.
- Use or distribute written communications that resemble or are falsely represented to be documents authorized, issued, or approved by any court, official, or agency of the United States or any state or that create a false impression of their source, authorization, or approval.
- Use any false representation or deceptive means to collect or attempt to collect a debt or to obtain information about a consumer.
- Fail to disclose clearly, except as allowed in acquiring location information, that he or she is attempting to collect a debt and that information obtained will be used for that purpose.
- Falsely represent or imply that accounts have been sold to innocent purchasers.
- Falsely represent or imply that documents are legal process.

- Use any name other than the true name of the debt collector’s business, company, or organization.
- Falsely represent or imply that documents are not legal process or do not require action by the consumer.
- Falsely represent that he or she operates or is employed by a consumer reporting agency.

Unfair Practices

A debt collector may not use unfair or unconscionable means to collect or attempt to collect a debt. Specifically, a debt collector may not (15 USC 1692f):

- Collect any amount, including any interest, fee, charge, or expense incidental to the principal obligation, unless it was authorized by the original debt agreement or is otherwise permitted by law.
- Accept a check or other instrument postdated by more than five days, unless he or she notifies the consumer, in writing, of any intention to deposit the check or instrument. That notice must be made not more than 10 or less than three business days before the date of deposit.
- Solicit a postdated check or other postdated payment instrument to use as a threat or to institute criminal prosecution.
- Deposit or threaten to deposit a postdated check or other postdated payment instrument before the date on the check or instrument.
- Cause communication charges, such as those for collect telephone calls and telegrams, to be incurred by any person by concealing the true purpose of the communication.
- Take action to or threaten to repossess or disable property when the creditor has no enforceable right to the property or does not intend to do so, or if, by law, the property cannot be taken, repossessed, or disabled.
- Use a postcard to contact a consumer about a debt.
- Use any name or symbol, other than a debt collector’s address, on any envelope when communicating with a consumer that indicates the nature of the debt collector’s business.

Multiple Debts

If a consumer owes multiple debts that are being collected by the same debt collector, payments must be applied according to the consumer’s instructions. No payment may be applied to a disputed debt (15 USC 1692h).

Legal Actions by Debt Collectors

A debt collector may file a lawsuit to enforce a security interest in real property only in the judicial district in which the real property is located. Other legal actions may be brought only in the judicial district in which the consumer lives or in which the consumer signed the original contract creating the debt (15 USC 1692i).

Furnishing Certain Deceptive Forms

No one may design, compile, and furnish any form knowing that it would be used to create a belief by the consumer that someone other than the creditor (e.g., a debt collector) is participating in the collection of a debt. Any person who designs, compiles, and furnishes such a form is subject to civil liability (15 USC 1692j and k).

Civil Liability

A debt collector who fails to comply with any provision of the FDCPA is liable for (15 USC 1692k):

- Any actual damages sustained as a result of that failure.
- Any additional damages as allowed by the court:
  - In an individual action, up to $1,000.
  - In a class action, up to $1,000 for each named plaintiff and an award to be divided among all other members of the class of an amount up to $500,000 or 1 percent of the debt collector's net worth, whichever is less.
- Costs and a reasonable attorney's fee in any such action.

In determining the amount of liability, the court must consider the nature, frequency, and persistence of the violations and the extent to which they were intentional. In a class action, the court also must weigh the resources of the debt collector and the number of persons adversely affected.

Defenses

A debt collector is not liable for a violation if a preponderance of the evidence shows it was not intentional and was the result of a bona fide error that arose despite procedures reasonably designed to avoid it. The collector also is not liable if he or she, in good faith, relied on an advisory opinion of the Federal Trade Commission (FTC), even if the ruling is later amended, rescinded, or determined by a court or other authority to be invalid for any reason.

Jurisdiction and Statute of Limitations

Actions against debt collectors for FDCPA violations may be brought in any appropriate U.S. district court or other court of competent jurisdiction. The consumer has one year from the date on which the violation occurred to bring such an action.

Administrative Enforcement

The OCC is charged with enforcing the FDCPA for national banks and federal branches and agencies. Neither the FTC nor the OCC may issue regulations governing the collection of consumer debts by debt collectors (15 USC 1692l).

Relationship to State Law

The FDCPA preempts state law only to the extent that state law is inconsistent with the FDCPA. A state law that is more protective of the consumer is not considered inconsistent with the FDCPA (15 USC 1692n).

Exemption for State Regulation

The FTC by regulation may exempt certain classes of debt collection practices from the FDCPA requirements, if the FTC has determined that state laws impose substantially similar requirements and that adequate provision for enforcement exists (15 USC 1692o).

Fair Debt Collection Practices Act: Regulatory Interpretations— Questions and Answers

Coverage

1. When is a bank a debt collector?

Generally, a bank that regularly participates in any arrangement, including reciprocal service agreements, with another person to collect defaulted consumer debts for that person, is a debt collector for those debts only. In addition, if a bank uses a name other than its own in collecting its own consumer debts, it is a debt collector for such debts as well.

2. When is a debt in default?

The act does not define when a debt is in default. In determining whether a debt is in default, the following factors, among others, are considered:

- The creditor's customary policies and practices.
- Terms of the contract.
- Determinations by the originator.
- State law.

3. May a bank ever regularly collect for another person without becoming a debt collector?

Yes. If the bank is related to the other institution by common ownership or corporate control, it may collect consumer debts for that institution without becoming a debt collector, provided that it collects debts only for related institutions and debt collection is not the bank's principal business. However, if it regularly collects defaulted debts for nonaffiliates, it also becomes a debt collector for regularly collected, defaulted affiliate debts.

4. Is a bank a debt collector if it collects a consumer debt in an isolated instance for a non-related person?

No. A bank that collects in an isolated instance for a nonaffiliate is not covered. The bank must collect for others in the regular course of business before it becomes a debt collector.

5. When does a bank regularly collect debts due another?

The act does not define what constitutes collecting debts “regularly.” For examination purposes, the following factors should be considered in determining if the bank regularly collects third-party debts:

- Whether the bank has entered into a formal agreement with another person to collect third-party debts, such as the American Bankers Association’s reciprocal service agreement program.
- Whether the bank has established procedures for collection of third-party debts.
- The ratio of third-party defaulted debts collected during the past 12 months to all defaulted debts collected.
- The amount of time the bank spends in third-party debt collection.

6. Are banks that service mortgages or student loans generally debt collectors?

No. Banks are not debt collectors if they service debts that they originated or debts that were not in default when obtained by the bank. However, if a bank services a loan portfolio, it is a debt collector for those loans in the portfolio that it did not originate and that were in default when obtained.

7. Are bank trust departments debt collectors?

No. The activities of trust departments are bona fide fiduciary activities exempt from the FDCPA.

8. Are banks debt collectors if they collect consumer debts held as security for an extension of commercial credit?

No. This activity is specifically exempted.

9. Are employees or officers of banks considered debt collectors?

No. They are not debt collectors as long as they collect the bank’s debts in its name.

Third-Party Communication When Bank Is Acting as a Debt Collector

10. May a bank communicate with persons other than the consumer to determine his or her location?

Yes. However, the communication must be limited to location information; that is, a consumer's place of residence, phone number, or place of employment. The bank may not identify itself as a debt collector and nothing may be said about debt collection. If the bank knows that the consumer is represented by an attorney, the bank may not communicate with any other person, even about location information.

11. May a bank discuss the debt with anyone other than the consumer?

Yes. However, the bank may contact only:

- Its attorney.
- The consumer's attorney.
- The creditor or creditor's attorney.
- Consumer reporting agencies.
- The consumer's spouse, parent (if the consumer is a minor), guardian, executor, or administrator.
- Any other person obligated to pay the debt.

Prohibited Activities When Bank Is Acting as a Debt Collector

12. In general, what means of debt collection are banks prohibited from using?

The bank cannot threaten violence or harm, swear, publish the consumer's name as a person who allegedly refuses to pay debts; advertise the sale of the debt to coerce payment; make excessive telephone calls; or fail to disclose the bank's identity on the telephone.

Any other action that would harass, oppress, or abuse anyone is prohibited. The bank also cannot make false representation about itself, the debt, or its rights or those of the consumer.

13. May a bank contact a consumer at his or her place of employment?

The bank may not contact a consumer at his or her place of employment if it is against the consumer's wishes or if the bank knows or should know that the employer forbids such contacts.

14. May a bank contact a consumer who is represented by an attorney concerning the debt?

No. However, the bank may contact the consumer to obtain the name and address of the attorney, or if the attorney permits the contact or fails to respond within a reasonable time.

15. May the bank be made to stop communicating with the consumer about the debt?

Yes. If the consumer notifies the bank in writing that the consumer refuses to pay the debt or merely does not want any further contact with the bank, the bank must cease communication with the consumer. However, at that point the bank may still notify the consumer of its possible further actions.

16. May the bank collect an amount in excess of that authorized by the contract or permitted by state law?

No.

17. May the bank accept postdated instruments?

Yes. However, the act provides specific rules for accepting those instruments (see 15 USC 1692f(2) through (4)).

18. May a postcard be used in collection efforts?

No.

19. May the bank threaten to repossess property?

Yes, but only when there is a present right and intention to take possession of the property.

20. May the bank use an envelope that contains any language or symbol indicating debt collection when communicating with a consumer?

No.

Requirements When Bank Is Acting as a Debt Collector

21. What must the bank do when contacting a consumer for the first time?

Within five days of its initial communication with the consumer, unless the consumer pays the debt in that time, the debt collector must send the consumer a written notice containing:

- The amount of the debt.
- The name of the creditor.
- A statement that, unless the consumer disputes the validity of the debt within 30 days, the debt collector will assume the debt to be valid.
- A statement that, if the consumer disputes the debt in writing within 30 days, the debt collector will obtain and mail the consumer verification of the debt.
- A statement that, upon the consumer's written request within the 30-day period, the debt collector will provide the name and address of the original creditor, if different from the current creditor.

22. If the consumer disputes the debt or requests the name and address of the original creditor, may the bank continue collection efforts?

No. However, the bank may continue collection efforts after it provides the consumer with a copy of the written verification of the debt or the name and address of the original creditor.

Consequences of Noncompliance

23. What are the potential consequences of noncompliance with the act?

In civil actions, individual consumers may recover actual damages, court costs, attorney's fees, and additional damages up to $1,000. Class action recoveries include those mentioned in the previous sentence for named plaintiffs and additional damages up to the lesser of $500,000 or 1 percent of the bank's net worth.

Administrative enforcement of the FDCPA for banks may involve actions under section 8 of the FDI Act, including cease and desist orders requiring that actions be taken to remedy conditions resulting from violations.

Key Definitions

The definition of certain terms is necessary to understand the requirements imposed by the CLA. These terms include lease, lessee, lessor, consumer lease, realized value, residual value, open-end lease, closed-end lease, gross capitalized cost, capitalized cost reduction, and adjusted capitalized cost, in that order.

Lease: A contract between a lessor (the property owner) and a lessee (the property user) for the use of property subject to stated terms and limitations for a specified period and at a specified payment.

Lessee: A natural person who enters in to or is offered a consumer lease.

Lessor: A natural person or organization who regularly leases, offers to lease, or arranges for the lease of personal property under a consumer lease; a person who leases or offers to lease more than five times in the preceding or current calendar year meets this definition.

Consumer lease: A contract between a lessee and a lessor:

- For the use of personal property by an individual (natural person).
- To be used primarily for personal, family, or household purposes.
- For a period of more than four months (week-to-week and month-to-month leases do not meet this criterion, even though they may be extended beyond four months).
- With a total contractual cost of no more than $25,000.

Specifically excluded from coverage are leases that are:

- For business or agricultural purposes or made to an organization or government.
- For real property.
- For personal property, which are incidental to the lease of real property, subject to certain conditions.
- For credit sales, as defined in Regulation Z, 12 CFR 226.2(a)(16).

A lease meeting all of these criteria is covered by the CLA and the Federal Reserve Board's Regulation M. If any one of these criteria is not met—for example, if the leased property is used primarily for business purposes or if the total contractual cost exceeds $25,000—the CLA and Regulation M do not apply.

Consumer leases fall into one of two categories: closed-end and open-end. Since the information required to be disclosed to the consumer will vary with the kind of lease, it is important to note the difference between them. However, to properly understand the difference, realized value and residual value must first be defined.

Realized value: The price received by the lessor of the leased property at disposition, the highest offer for disposition of the leased property, or the fair market value of the leased property at the end of the lease term.

Residual value: The value of the leased property at the end of the lease, as estimated or assigned at consummation of the lease by the lessor.

Open-end lease: A lease in which the amount owed at the end of the lease term is based on the difference between the residual value of the leased property and its realized value. The consumer may pay all or part of the difference if the realized value is less than the residual value, or he or she may get a refund if the realized value is greater than the residual value at scheduled termination.

Closed-end lease: A lease other than an open-end lease. This type of lease allows the consumer to "walk away" at the end of the contract period, with no further payment obligation—unless the property has been damaged or has sustained abnormal wear and tear.

Gross capitalized cost: The amount agreed upon by the lessee and lessor as the value of the leased property, plus any items that are capitalized or amortized during the lease term. These items may include taxes, insurance, service agreements, and any outstanding prior credit or lease balance.

Capitalized cost reduction: The total amount of any rebate, cash payment, net trade-in allowance, and noncash credit that reduces the gross capitalized cost.

Adjusted capitalized cost: The gross capitalized cost less the capitalized cost reduction and the amount used by the lessor in calculating the base periodic payment.

General Disclosure Requirements

Lessors are required by federal law to provide the consumer with leasing cost information and other disclosures in a format similar to the model disclosure forms found in Appendix A to the regulation. Certain pieces of this information must be kept together and must be segregated from other lease information. All of the information stated must be accurate, clear, and conspicuous, and provided in writing in a form that the consumer may keep.

The general disclosures required by 12 CFR 213 may be provided to the lessee in electronic form, subject to compliance with the consumer consent and other applicable provisions of the E-Sign Act. The E-Sign Act does not mandate that institutions or consumers use or accept electronic records or signatures. It permits institutions to satisfy any statutory or regulatory requirements by providing the information electronically after obtaining the consumer's affirmative consent. But before consent can be given, consumers must be provided with the following information:

- Any right or option to have the information provided in paper or nonelectronic form.
- The right to withdraw the consent to receive information electronically and the consequences, including fees, of doing so.
- The scope of the consent (for example, whether the consent applies only to a particular transaction or to identified categories of records that may be provided during the course of the parties' relationship).
- The procedures to withdraw consent and to update information needed to contact the consumer electronically.
- The methods by which a consumer may obtain, upon request, a paper copy of an electronic record after consent has been given to receive the information electronically and whether any fee will be charged.

The consumer must consent electronically or confirm consent electronically in a manner that "reasonably demonstrates that the consumer can access information in the electronic form that will be used to provide the information that is the subject of the consent."

After the consent, if an institution changes the hardware or software requirements such that a consumer may be prevented from accessing and retaining information electronically, the institution must notify the consumer of the new requirements and must allow the consumer to withdraw consent without charge.

Disclosures are to be provided in the following circumstances (advertisement requirements are discussed in the advertising section):

- Prior to or due at lease signing. A dated disclosure must be given to the consumer before signing the lease and must contain all of the information detailed in Section 4 of the regulation.
- Renegotiations and extensions. New disclosures also must be provided when a consumer renegotiates, or extends a lease, subject to certain exceptions.
- Multiple lessors/lessees. In the event of multiple lessors, one lessor on behalf of all the lessors may make the required disclosures. If the lease involves more than one lessee, the required disclosures should be given to any lessee who is primarily liable.

Advertising

Advertisements concerning consumer leases must also comply with certain disclosure requirements. All advertisements must be accurate.

If an advertisement includes any reference to certain “trigger terms”—the amount of any payment, statement of a capitalized cost reduction (i.e., down payment), or other payment required prior to or at lease signing or delivery, or that no such payment is required—then the ad must also state the following:

- The transaction is for a lease.
- The total amount due prior to or at lease signing or delivery.
- The number, amounts, and due dates or periods of the scheduled payments.
- A statement of whether or not a security deposit is required.
- A statement that an extra charge may be imposed at the end of the lease term when the lessee’s liability (if any) is based on the difference between the residual value of the leased property and its realized value at the end of the lease term (12 CFR 213.7(d)(2)).

An advertisement for an open-end lease also must include a statement that extra charges may be imposed at the end of the lease based on the difference between the residual value and the realized value at the end of the lease term.

If lessors give a percentage rate in an advertisement, the rate cannot be more prominent than any of the other required disclosures. They must also include a statement that “this percentage may not measure the overall cost of financing this lease.” The lessor cannot use the term “annual percentage rate,” “annual lease rate,” or any equivalent term.

Some fees (license, registration, taxes, and inspection fees) may vary by state or locality. An advertisement may exclude these third-party fees from the disclosure of a periodic payment or total amount due at lease signing or delivery provided the ad states that these have been excluded. Otherwise, an advertisement may include these fees in the periodic payment or total amount due, provided it states that the fees are based on a particular state or locality and indicates that the fees may vary.

For an advertisement accessed by the consumer in electronic form, the required disclosures may be provided to the consumer in electronic form in the advertisement, without regard to the consumer consent or other provisions of the E-Sign Act. An electronic advertisement (such as an advertisement on an Internet Web site) that provides a table or schedule of the required disclosures is considered a single advertisement if the advertisement clearly refers the consumer to the location where the additional required information begins. For example, in an electronic advertisement, a term triggering additional disclosures may be accompanied by a link that directly connects the consumer to the additional disclosures.

Limits on Balloon Payments

To limit balloon payments that may be required of the consumer, certain sections of the regulation call for reasonable calculations and estimates. These provisions protect the consumer at early termination of a lease, at the end of the lease term, or in delinquency, default, or late payment status. The provisions limit the lessee’s liability at the end of the lease term and set reasonableness standards for wear and use charges, early termination charges, and penalties or fees for delinquency.

Penalties and Liability

Criminal and civil liability provisions of the Truth in Lending Act also apply to the CLA. Actions alleging failure to disclose the required information, or otherwise comply with the CLA, must be brought within one year of the termination of the lease agreement.

Record Retention

Lessors are required to maintain evidence of compliance with the requirements imposed by Regulation M, other than the advertising requirements under section 7 of the regulation, for a period of not less than two years after the date the disclosures are required to be made or an action is required to be taken.

Background and Summary

The Homeowners Protection Act of 1998 (the act) was signed into law on July 29, 1998, and became effective on July 29, 1999. The act was amended on December 27, 2000, to provide technical corrections and clarification. The act, also known as the “PMI Cancellation Act,” addresses homeowners’ difficulties in canceling private mortgage insurance (PMI) coverage.<sup>13</sup> It establishes provisions for canceling and terminating PMI, establishes disclosure and notification requirements, and requires the return of unearned premiums.

PMI is insurance that protects lenders from the risk of default and foreclosure. PMI allows prospective buyers who cannot, or choose not to, provide significant down payments to obtain mortgage financing at affordable rates. It is used extensively to facilitate “high-ratio” loans (generally, loans in which the loan-to-value (LTV) ratio exceeds 80 percent). With PMI, the lender can recover costs associated with the resale of foreclosed property and accrued interest payments or fixed costs, such as taxes or insurance policies, paid prior to resale.

Excessive PMI coverage provides little extra protection for a lender and does not benefit the borrower. In some instances, homeowners have experienced problems in canceling PMI. At other times, lenders may have agreed to terminate coverage when the borrower’s equity reached 20 percent, but the policies and procedures used for canceling or terminating PMI coverage varied widely among lenders. Prior to the act, homeowners had limited recourse when lenders refused to cancel their PMI coverage. Even homeowners in the few states that had laws pertaining to PMI cancellation or termination noted difficulties in canceling or terminating their PMI policies. The act now protects homeowners by prohibiting life-of-loan PMI coverage for borrower-paid PMI products and establishing uniform procedures for the cancellation and termination of PMI policies.

<sup>13</sup> The act does not apply to mortgage insurance made available under the National Housing Act, title 38 of the USC, or title V of the Housing Act of 1949. This includes mortgage insurance on loans made by the Federal Housing Administration and guarantees on mortgage loans made by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs.

Scope and Effective Date

The act applies primarily to “residential mortgage transactions,” defined as mortgage loan transactions consummated on or after July 29, 1999, to finance the acquisition, initial construction, or refinancing<sup>14</sup> of a single-family dwelling that serves as a borrower’s principal residence.<sup>15</sup> The act also includes provisions for annual written disclosures for “residential mortgages,” defined as mortgages, loans, or other evidences of a security interest created for a single-family dwelling that is the principal residence of the borrower (12 USC 4901(14) and (15)). A condominium, townhouse, cooperative, or mobile home is considered to be a single-family dwelling covered by the act.

The act’s requirements vary depending on whether a mortgage is one of the following:

- A “residential mortgage” or a “residential mortgage transaction.”
- Defined as high risk (either by the lender in the case of non-conforming loans, or Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac in the case of conforming loans).
- Financed under a fixed or an adjustable rate.
- Covered by borrower-paid private mortgage insurance (BPMI) or lender-paid private mortgage insurance (LPMI).<sup>16</sup>

Cancellation and Termination of PMI for Non-High-Risk Residential Mortgage Transactions

Borrower Requested Cancellation

A borrower may initiate cancellation of PMI coverage by submitting a written request to the servicer. The servicer must take action to cancel PMI when the cancellation date occurs, which is when the principal balance of the loan reaches (based on actual payments), or is first scheduled to reach, 80 percent

<sup>14</sup> For purposes of these procedures, “refinancing” means the refinancing of loans any portion of which was to provide financing for the acquisition or initial construction of a single-family dwelling that serves as a borrower’s principal residence. See 15 USC 1601 et seq. and 12 CFR 226.20.

<sup>15</sup> For purposes of these procedures, junior mortgages that provide financing for the acquisition, initial construction, or refinancing of a single-family dwelling that serves as a borrower’s principal residence are covered.

<sup>16</sup> All sections of these procedures and manual apply to BPMI. For LPMI, relevant sections begin under that heading and follow.

amortization schedule then in effect in the case of an adjustable-rate loan, irrespective of the outstanding balance), if the borrower is current; or if the borrower is not current on that date, on the first day of the first month following the date that the borrower becomes current (12 USC 4902(b)).

If PMI is terminated, the servicer may not require further payments or premiums of PMI more than 30 days after the termination date, or the date following the termination date on which the borrower becomes current on the payments, whichever is sooner (12 USC 4902(e)(2)).

There is no provision in the automatic termination section of the act, as there is with the borrower-requested PMI cancellation section that protects the lender against declines in property value or subordinate liens. The automatic termination provisions make no reference to good payment history (as prescribed in the borrower-requested provisions), but state only that the borrower must be current on mortgage payments (12 USC 4902(b)).

Final Termination

If PMI coverage on a residential mortgage transaction was not canceled at the borrower's request or by the automatic termination provision, the servicer must terminate PMI coverage by the first day of the month immediately following the date that is the midpoint of the loan's amortization period if, on that date, the borrower is current on the payments required by the terms of the mortgage (12 USC 4902(c)). (If the borrower is not current on that date, PMI must be terminated when the borrower does become current.)

The midpoint of the amortization period is halfway through the period between the first day of the amortization period established at consummation and ending when the mortgage is scheduled to be amortized. The servicer may not require further payments or premiums of PMI more than 30 days after PMI is terminated (12 USC 4902(e)(3)).

Loan Modifications

If a borrower and mortgage holder agree to modify the terms and conditions of a loan pursuant to a residential mortgage transaction, the cancellation, termination, or final termination dates shall be recalculated to reflect the modification (12 USC 4902(d)).

Exclusions

The act's cancellation and termination provisions do not apply to residential mortgage transactions for which LPMI is required (12 USC 4905(b)).

Return of Unearned Premiums

The servicer must return all unearned PMI premiums to the borrower within 45 days after cancellation or termination of PMI coverage. Within 30 days after notification by the servicer of cancellation or termination of PMI coverage, a mortgage insurer must return to the servicer any amount of unearned premiums it is holding to permit the servicer to return such premiums to the borrower (12 USC 4902(f)).

Accrued Obligations for Premium Payments

The cancellation or termination of PMI does not affect the rights of any lender, servicer, or mortgage insurer to enforce any obligation of a borrower for payments of premiums that accrued before the cancellation or termination occurred (12 USC 4902 (h)).

Exceptions to Cancellation and Termination Provisions for High-Risk Residential Mortgage Transactions

The borrower-requested cancellation at 80 percent LTV and the automatic termination at 78 percent LTV requirements of the act do not apply to "high-risk" loans. However, high-risk loans are subject to final termination and are divided into two categories—conforming (Fannie Mae- and Freddie Mac-defined high-risk loans) and non-conforming (lender-defined high-risk loans) (12 USC 4902(g)(1)).

Conforming Loans (Fannie Mae- and Freddie Mac-Defined High-Risk Loans)

Conforming loans are those loans with an original principal balance not exceeding Freddie Mac's and Fannie Mae's conforming loan limits.<sup>21</sup> Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac are authorized under the act to establish a category of residential mortgage transactions that are not subject to the act's requirements for borrower-requested cancellation or automatic termination, because of the high risk associated with them.<sup>22</sup> They are, however, subject to the final termination provision of the act. As such, PMI on a conforming high-risk loan must be terminated by the first day of the month following the date that is the midpoint of the loan's initial amortization schedule (in the case of a fixed-rate loan) or amortization schedule then in effect (in the case of an adjustable-rate loan) if, on that date, the borrower is current on the loan. If the borrower is not current on that date, PMI should be terminated when the borrower does become current (12 USC 4902(g)(2)).

Nonconforming Loans (Lender-Defined High-Risk Loans)

Nonconforming loans are those residential mortgage transactions that have an original principal balance exceeding Freddie Mac's and Fannie Mae's conforming loan limits. Lender-defined high-risk loans are not subject to the act's requirements for borrower-requested cancellation or automatic termination. However, if a residential mortgage transaction is a lender-defined high-risk loan, PMI must be terminated on the date on which the principal balance of the mortgage, based solely on the initial amortization schedule (in the case of a fixed-rate loan) or the amortization schedule then in effect (in the case of an adjustable-rate loan) for that mortgage and, irrespective of the outstanding balance for that mortgage on that date, is first scheduled to reach 77 percent of the original value of the property securing the loan.

As with conforming loans that are determined to be high risk by Freddie Mac and Fannie Mae, a residential mortgage transaction that is a lender-defined high-risk loan is subject to the final termination provision of the act.

Notices

The lender must provide written initial disclosures at consummation for all high-risk residential mortgage transactions (as defined by the lender or Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac), that in no case will PMI be required beyond the midpoint of the amortization period of the loan, if the loan is current. More specific notice as to the 77 percent LTV termination standards for lender defined high-risk loans is not required under the act.

<sup>22</sup> Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac have not defined high-risk loans as of the date of this publication.

Basic Disclosure and Notice Requirements Applicable to Residential Mortgage Transactions and Residential Mortgages

The act requires the lender in a residential mortgage transaction to provide to the borrower, at the time of consummation, certain disclosures that describe the borrower's rights for PMI cancellation and termination. A borrower may not be charged for any disclosure required by the act. Initial disclosures vary, based upon whether the transaction is a fixed-rate mortgage, adjustable-rate mortgage, or high-risk loan. The act also requires that the borrower be provided with certain annual and other notices concerning PMI cancellation and termination. Residential mortgages are subject to certain annual disclosure requirements.

Initial Disclosures for Fixed-Rate Residential Mortgage Transactions

When PMI is required for non-high-risk fixed-rate mortgages, the lender must provide to the borrower at the time the transaction is consummated a written initial amortization schedule, and a written notice that discloses the following:

- The borrower's right to request cancellation of PMI, and, based solely on the initial amortization schedule, the date the loan balance is scheduled to reach 80 percent of the original value of the property.
- The borrower's right to request cancellation on an earlier date, if actual payments bring the loan balance to 80 percent of the original value of the property sooner than the date based on the initial amortization schedule.
- That PMI will terminate automatically when the LTV ratio reaches 78 percent of the original value of the property and the specific date that is projected to occur (based on the initial amortization schedule).
- Whether the exemptions to the cancellation and automatic termination provisions for high-risk mortgages provided for in the act apply to the borrower's loan (12 USC 4903(a)(1)(A)).

Initial Disclosures for Adjustable-Rate Residential Mortgage Transactions

When PMI is required for non-high-risk, adjustable-rate mortgages, the lender must provide to the borrower at the time the transaction is consummated a written notice that discloses:

- The borrower’s right to request cancellation of PMI on (i) the date the loan balance is first scheduled to reach 80 percent of the original value of the property based on the amortization schedule then in effect or (ii) the date the balance actually reaches 80 percent of the original value of the property based on actual payments. The notice must also state that the servicer will notify the borrower when either (i) or (ii) occurs.
- That PMI will automatically terminate when the loan balance is first scheduled to reach 78 percent of the original value of the property based on the amortization schedule then in effect. The notice must also state that the borrower will be notified when PMI is terminated (or that termination will occur when the borrower becomes current on payments).
- That there are exemptions to the cancellation and automatic termination provisions for high-risk mortgages and whether such exemptions apply to the borrower’s loan (12 USC 4903(a)(1)(B)).

Initial Disclosures for High-Risk Residential Mortgage Transactions

When PMI is required for high-risk residential mortgage transactions, the lender must provide to the borrower a written notice stating that PMI will not be required beyond the date that is the midpoint of the loan’s amortization period if, on that date, the borrower is current on the payments as required by the terms of the loan. The lender must provide this notice at consummation. The lender need not provide disclosure of the termination at 77 percent LTV for lender-defined high-risk mortgages (12 USC 4903(a)(2)).

Annual Disclosures for Residential Mortgage Transactions

For all residential mortgage transactions, including high-risk mortgages for which PMI is required, the servicer must provide the borrower with an annual written statement that sets forth the rights of the borrower to PMI cancellation and termination and the address and telephone number that the borrower may use to contact the servicer to determine whether the borrower may cancel PMI (12 USC 4903(a)(3)).

Disclosures for Existing Residential Mortgages

When PMI was required for a residential mortgage consummated before July 29, 1999, the servicer must provide to the borrower an annual written statement that:

- States that PMI may be canceled with the consent of the lender or in accordance with state law.
- Provides the servicer's address and telephone number, so that the borrower may contact the servicer to determine whether the borrower may cancel PMI (12 USC 4903(b)).

Notification Upon Cancellation or Termination of PMI Relating to Residential Mortgage Transactions

General

The servicer must, no later than 30 days after PMI relating to a residential mortgage transaction is canceled or terminated, notify<sup>23</sup> the borrower in writing that:

- PMI has terminated and the borrower no longer has PMI.
- No further premiums, payments, or other fees are due or payable by the borrower in connection with PMI (12 USC 4904(a)).

Notice of Grounds and Timing

If a servicer determines that a borrower in a residential mortgage transaction does not qualify for PMI cancellation or automatic termination, the servicer must provide the borrower with a written notice of the grounds relied on for that determination. If an appraisal was used in making the determination, the servicer must give the appraisal results to the borrower. If a borrower does not qualify for cancellation, the notice must be provided no later than 30 days following the later of (i) the date the borrower's request for cancellation is received or (ii) the date on which the borrower satisfies any evidence and certification requirements of the mortgage holder. If the borrower does not meet the requirements for automatic termination, the notice must be provided no later than 30 days following the scheduled termination date (12 USC 4904(b)).

<sup>23</sup> For adjustable-rate mortgages, the initial notice to borrowers must state that the servicer will notify the borrower when the cancellation and automatic dates are reached (12 USC 4903(a)(1)(B)). Servicers should take care that the appropriate notices are made to borrowers when those dates are reached.

Disclosure Requirements for Lender-Paid Mortgage Insurance

Definitions

Borrower-paid mortgage insurance (BPMI): Means PMI is required for a residential mortgage transaction, the payments for which are made by the borrower.

Lender-paid mortgage insurance (LPMI): Means PMI is required for a residential mortgage transaction, the payments for which are made by a person other than the borrower.

Loan commitment: Means a prospective lender's written confirmation of its approval, including any applicable closing conditions, of the application of a prospective borrower for a residential mortgage loan (12 USC 4905(a)).

Initial Notice

In the case of LPMI required for a residential mortgage transaction, the act requires that the lender provide a written notice to the borrower no later than the date on which a loan commitment is made. The written notice must advise the borrower of the differences between LPMI and BPMI by notifying the borrower that LPMI:

- Differs from BPMI, because LPMI cannot be canceled by the borrower or automatically terminated as provided under the act.
- Usually results in a mortgage having a higher interest rate than it would in the case of BPMI.
- Terminates only when the mortgage is refinanced, (as that term is defined in Regulation Z, 12 CFR 226.20), paid off, or otherwise terminated.

The notice must also provide:

- A statement that LPMI and BPMI have both benefits and disadvantages.
- A generic analysis of the costs and benefits of a mortgage in the case of LPMI versus BPMI over a 10-year period, assuming prevailing interest and property appreciation rates.
- That LPMI may be tax-deductible for federal income taxes, if the borrower itemizes expenses for that purpose (12 USC 4905(c)(1)).

Notice at Termination Date

No later than 30 days after the termination date that would apply in the case of BPML, the servicer shall provide to the borrower a written notice indicating that the borrower may wish to review financing options that could eliminate the requirement for LPMI for the mortgage (12 USC 4905(c)(2)).

Fees for Disclosures

As stated previously, no fee or other cost may be imposed on a borrower for the disclosures or notifications required to be given to a borrower by lenders or servicers under the act (12 USC 4906).

Civil Liability

Liability Dependent upon Type of Action

Servicers, lenders, and mortgage insurers that violate the act are liable to borrowers as follows:

- Individual Action
In the case of individual borrowers:
  - Actual damages (including interest accruing on such damages).
  - Statutory damages not to exceed $2,000.
  - Costs of the action.
  - Reasonable attorney fees.
- Class Action
In the case of a class action suit against a defendant that is subject to section 10 of the act, (i.e., regulated by the federal banking agencies, National Credit Union Administration (NCUA), or the Farm Credit Administration):
  - Such statutory damages as the court may allow up to the lesser of $500,000 or 1 percent of the liable party's net worth.
  - Costs of the action.
  - Reasonable attorney fees.

In the case of a class action suit against a defendant that is not subject to section 10 of the act (i.e., not regulated by the federal banking agencies, NCUA, or the Farm Credit Administration):

- Actual damages (including interest accruing on such damages).

- Statutory damages up to $1,000 per class member, but not to exceed the lesser of $500,000 or 1 percent of the liable party's gross revenues.
- Costs of the action.
- Reasonable attorney fees (12 USC 4907(a)).

Statute of Limitations

A borrower must bring an action under the act within two years after the borrower discovers the violation (12 USC 4907(b)).

Mortgage Servicer Liability Limitation

A servicer shall not be liable for its failure to comply with the requirements of the act if the servicer's failure to comply is caused by the mortgage insurer's or lender's failure to comply with the act (12 USC 4907(c)).

Enforcement

The act directs the federal banking agencies to enforce the act under 12 USC 1818 or any other authority conferred upon the agencies by law. Under the act, the agencies shall:

- Notify applicable lenders or servicers of any failure to comply with the act.
- Require the lender or servicer, as applicable, to correct the borrower's account to reflect the date on which PMI should have been canceled or terminated under the act.
- Require the lender or servicer, as applicable, to return unearned PMI premiums to a borrower who paid premiums after the date on which the borrower's obligation to pay PMI premiums ceased under the act (12 USC 4909).

- A subpoena issued in conjunction with proceedings before a grand jury (12 USC 3413(i)).
- Records sought by the Government Accountability Office for an authorized proceeding or audit directed at a federal agency (12 USC 3413(j)).
- Records of any bank officer, director, employee, or controlling shareholder, or any major borrower who there is reason to believe may be acting in concert with any such officer, director, employee, or controlling shareholder, provided by the bank to the U.S. Attorney, state law enforcement agency, or, in the case of violations of 31 USC 5311 et seq. to the Secretary of the Treasury, for criminal violation and violations of the Bank Secrecy Act and anti-money laundering statutes (12 USC 3413(l)).

If the agency and the customer are parties to a suit, records may be obtained under the Federal Rules of Civil and Criminal Procedure or the Administrative Procedure Act (12 USC 3413(e) and (f)).

Exceptions to Notice Requirements—Certification Is Required

The act does not apply when a bank is being investigated, even if the investigation also is directed at a customer. However, the federal agency seeking access to customer records must provide the bank with the required certification of compliance 12 USC 3413 (h)(1)(A)).

Records also may be provided incidental to processing a government loan, loan guaranty, loan insurance agreement, or default upon a government-guaranteed or insured loan. Again, the federal agency seeking access must provide the bank with the written certification of compliance (12 USC 3413 (h)(1)(B) and (h)(6)).

The federal agency also must give to the loan applicant a notice of its access rights when the customer initially applies for the loan. The bank is required to keep a record of all disclosures made to government authorities, which the customer is entitled to inspect.

Delayed Notice Requirements

The government may petition a court to authorize a delay in providing notice to customers for an initial period of 90 days, if there is reason to believe that, among other things, providing a notice would result in:

- Endangering the life or physical safety of any person.
- Flight from prosecution.
- Destruction of or tampering with evidence.
- Intimidation of potential witnesses.
- Seriously jeopardizing or unduly delaying an investigation, trial, or official proceeding.

Further extensions can be provided for by the court.

Civil Liability

Any government agency that obtains, or any bank or bank employee who discloses, information in violation of the act is liable for (12 USC 3417):

- Actual damages.
- Such punitive damages as the court may allow for willful or intentional violations
- One hundred dollars, regardless of the volume of records involved.
- Court costs and reasonable attorney's fees.

Background and Summary

Section 711 of the Gramm–Leach–Bliley Act (GLBA) added a new section 48 to the Federal Deposit Insurance Act (FDI Act) titled “CRA Sunshine Requirements.” (CRA stands for Community Reinvestment Act.) This section requires nongovernmental entities or persons (NGEP), insured depository institutions (IDI), and affiliates of IDIs that are parties to certain agreements that are in fulfillment of the CRA to make certain CRA-related agreements available to the public and the appropriate agency and to file annual reports concerning the agreements with the appropriate agency. The GLBA CRA Sunshine requirements and the implementing CRA Sunshine Regulation do not affect the CRA of 1977, its implementing regulations, or the OCC’s interpretation or administration of that act or regulations.

The CRA Sunshine Regulation, titled “Disclosure and Reporting of CRA-Related Agreements,” (12 CFR Part 35), became effective April 1, 2001. The CRA Sunshine Regulation identifies the types of written agreements that are covered by the statute (referred to as covered agreements), defines many of the terms used in the statute, describes how the parties to a covered agreement must make the agreement available to the public and the appropriate agencies, and explains the type of information that must be included in the annual report filed by a party to a covered agreement. GLBA and the CRA Sunshine Regulation expressly deny the OCC any authority to enforce the provisions of any covered agreement. The disclosure requirements apply to covered agreements entered into after November 12, 1999, and the annual reporting requirements apply to covered agreements entered into on or after May 12, 2000.

Definitions

Covered agreement: Any contract, arrangement, or understanding that meets all of the following criteria:

- The agreement is in writing.

- The parties to the agreement include:
  - One or more insured depository institutions or affiliates of an insured depository institution, and
  - One or more NGEPs.
- The agreement provides for the insured depository institution or any affiliate to:
  - Provide to one or more individuals or entities (whether or not parties to the agreement) cash payments, grants, or other consideration (except loans) that have an aggregate value of more than $10,000 in any calendar year, or
  - Make to one or more individuals or entities (whether or not parties to the agreement) loans that have an aggregate principal amount of more than $50,000 in any calendar year.
- The agreement is made pursuant to, or in connection with, the fulfillment of the CRA.
- The agreement is with a nongovernmental entity or person (NGEP) that has had a CRA communication prior to entering into the agreement.

A covered agreement does not include:

- Any individual loan that is secured by real estate.
- Any specific contract or commitment for a loan or extension of credit to an individual, business, farm, or other entity, or group of such individuals or entities if:
  - The funds are loaned at rates that are not substantially below market rates, and
  - The loan application or other loan documentation does not indicate that the borrower intends or is authorized to use the borrowed funds to make a loan or extension of credit to one or more third parties.

Affiliate: Any company that controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with another company.

- To determine whether an agreement is a covered agreement, an “affiliate” includes any company that would be under common control or merged with another company on consummation of any transaction pending before a federal banking agency at the time:
  - The parties enter into the agreement, and
  - The NGEP that is a party to the agreement makes a CRA communication, as described in 12 CFR 35.3.

CRA affiliate: Any company that is an affiliate of an insured depository institution to the extent, and only to the extent, that the activities of the affiliate were considered by the appropriate federal banking agency when evaluating the CRA performance of the institution at its most recent CRA examination prior to the agreement. An insured depository institution or affiliate also may designate any company as a CRA affiliate at any time prior to the time a covered agreement is entered into by informing the NGEF that is a party to the agreement of such designation.

CRA communication: Any of the following that meets the timing and knowledge requirements of 12 CFR 35.3(b):

- Any written or oral comment or testimony provided to a federal banking agency concerning the adequacy of the performance under the CRA of the insured depository institution, any affiliated insured depository institution, or any CRA affiliate.
- Any written comment submitted to the insured depository institution that discusses the adequacy of the performance under the CRA of the institution and must be included in the institution's CRA public file.
- Any discussion or other contact with the insured depository institution or any affiliate about:
  - Providing (or refraining from providing) written or oral comments or testimony to any federal banking agency concerning the adequacy of the performance under the CRA of the insured depository institution, any affiliated insured depository institution, or any CRA affiliate;
  - Providing (or refraining from providing) written comments to the insured depository institution that concern the adequacy of the institution's performance under the CRA and must be included in the institution's CRA public file; or
  - The adequacy of the performance under the CRA of the insured depository institution, any affiliated insured depository institution, or any CRA affiliate.

Examples of actions that are CRA communications may be found in 12 CFR 35.3(c)(1), and examples of actions that are not CRA communications may be found in 12 CFR 35.3(c)(2).

Fulfillment of the CRA: Factors that are in fulfillment of the CRA fall into the following two categories:

- Comments to a federal banking agency or included in CRA public file—Providing or refraining from providing written or oral comments or testimony to any federal banking agency concerning the performance under the CRA of an insured depository institution or CRA affiliate that is a party to the agreement or an affiliate of a party to the agreement or written comments that are required to be included in the CRA public file of any such insured depository institution.
- Activities given favorable CRA consideration—Performing any of the following activities, if the activity is of the type that is likely to receive favorable consideration by a federal banking agency in evaluating the performance under the CRA of the insured depository institution that is a party to the agreement or an affiliate of a party to the agreement:
  - Home purchase, home improvement, small business, small farm, community development, and consumer lending, as described in 12 CFR 25.22 of the CRA regulations, including loan purchases, loan commitments, and letters of credit.
  - Making investments, deposits, or grants, or acquiring membership shares, that have as their primary purpose community development, as described in 12 CFR 25.23 of the CRA regulations.
  - Delivering retail banking services, as described in 12 CFR 25.24(d) of the CRA regulations.
  - Providing community development services, as described in 12 CFR 25.24(e) of the CRA regulations.
  - In the case of a wholesale or limited-purpose insured depository institution, community development lending, including originating and purchasing loans and making loan commitments and letters of credit, making qualified investments, or providing community development services, as described in 12 CFR 25.25(c) of the CRA regulations.
  - In the case of a small insured depository institution, any lending or other activity described in 12 CFR 25.26(a) of the CRA regulations.
  - In the case of an insured depository institution that is evaluated on the basis of a strategic plan, any element of the strategic plan, as described in 12 CFR 25.27(f) of the CRA regulations.

Insured depository institution: Any bank or savings associations whose deposits are insured by the FDIC and includes any uninsured branch or agency of a foreign bank or a commercial lending company owned or controlled by a foreign bank for the purpose of section 8 of the FDI Act.

Background and Summary

Section 109 of the Riegle–Neal Interstate Banking and Branching Efficiency Act of 1994 (Interstate Act) expanded the ability of banks to branch across state lines. Section 109, however, prohibits banks from establishing or acquiring a branch or branches outside of its home state, pursuant to the Interstate Act, primarily for the purpose of deposit production. Congress enacted section 109 to ensure that interstate branches would not take deposits from a community without the bank reasonably helping to meet the credit needs of that community.

Subsequently, section 106 of the GLBA of 1999 amended section 109 by changing the definition of an “interstate branch” to include any branch of a bank controlled by an out-of-state bank holding company. Interagency regulations implementing this amendment became effective October 1, 2002.

The language of section 109 and its legislative history make clear that the agencies are to administer section 109 without imposing additional regulatory burden on banks. Consequently, the agencies’ regulations do not impose additional data reporting requirements nor do they require a bank to produce, or assist in producing, relevant data.

Coverage

Section 109 applies to any bank that has covered interstate branches.

Definitions

Covered interstate branch:

- Any branch of a national bank, and any federal branch of a foreign bank that:
  - Is established or acquired outside the bank’s home state pursuant to the interstate branching authority granted by the Interstate Act or by any amendment made by the Interstate Act to any other provision of law, or

- Could not have been established or acquired outside of the bank's home state but for the establishment or acquisition of a branch described above, and

- Any bank or branch of a bank controlled by an out-of-state bank holding company.

Home state: the state in which the main office of the bank is located.

- For a bank holding company, home state means the state in which the total deposits of all banking subsidiaries of such company are the largest on the later of:
  - July 1, 1966, or
  - The date on which the company becomes a holding company under the Bank Holding Company Act.
- For a foreign bank, home state means:
  - For purposes of determining whether a U.S. branch of a foreign bank is a covered interstate branch, the home state of the foreign bank as determined in accordance with 12 USC 3103(c) and 12 CFR 28.11(o), and.
  - For purposes of determining whether a branch of a U.S. bank controlled by a foreign bank is a covered interstate branch, the state in which the total deposits of all banking subsidiaries of such foreign bank are the largest on the later of:
    - July 1, 1966, or
    - The date on which the foreign bank becomes a bank holding company under the Bank Holding Company Act.

Host state: A state in which a covered interstate branch is established or acquired.

Host state loan-to-deposit ratio: The ratio of total loans in the host state to total deposits from the host state for all banks.

Out-of-state bank holding company: For any state, a bank holding company whose home state is another state.

Statewide loan-to-deposit ratio: The ratio of a bank's loans to its deposits in a particular state where it has one or more covered interstate branches, as determined by the OCC.

The Two-Step Test

Beginning no earlier than one year after a covered interstate branch is acquired or established, the agency will determine whether a bank is complying with the provisions of section 109. Section 109 provides a two-step test for determining compliance with the prohibition against interstate deposit production offices:

1. Loan-to-deposit ratio. The first step involves a loan-to-deposit (LTD) ratio screen, which is designed to measure the lending and deposit activities of covered interstate branches. The LTD ratio screen compares the bank's statewide LTD ratio to the host state LTD ratio. If the bank's statewide LTD ratio is at least one-half of the relevant host state LTD ratio, the bank passes the section 109 evaluation, and no further review is required. Host state ratios are prepared and made public by the agencies annually. (Most recent ratios are available on the OCC Website in current bulletins.)
2. Credit needs determination. The second step is a credit needs determination that is conducted if a bank fails the LTD ratio screen or if the LTD ratio cannot be calculated owing to insufficient data or to data that are not reasonably available. This step requires the examiner to review the activities of the bank, such as its lending activity and performance under the CRA, to determine whether the bank is reasonably helping to meet the credit needs of the communities served by the bank in the host state. Banks may provide the examiner with any relevant information, including loan data, if a credit needs determination is performed.

Although section 109 specifically requires the examiner to consider a bank's CRA rating when making a credit needs determination, a bank's CRA rating should not be the only factor considered. However, since most of the other factors are taken into account as part of a bank's performance context under CRA, it is expected that banks with a satisfactory or better CRA rating will receive a favorable credit needs determination. Banks with a less-than-satisfactory CRA rating may receive an adverse credit needs determination unless mitigated by the other factors enumerated in section 109 and 12 CFR 25.64(b). To ensure consistency, compliance with section 109 generally should be reviewed in conjunction with the evaluation of a bank's CRA performance.

For institutions designated as wholesale or limited-purpose banks, a credit needs determination should consider a bank's performance using the appropriate CRA performance test provided in the CRA regulations. For banks not subject to CRA, including certain special-purpose banks and uninsured branches of foreign banks, the examiner should use the CRA regulations only as a guideline when making a credit needs determination for such institutions. Section 109 does not obligate the institution to have a record of performance under the CRA nor does it require the institution to pass any CRA performance tests.

Enforcement and Sanctions

Before a bank can be sanctioned under section 109, the OCC is required to demonstrate that the bank failed to comply with the LTD ratio screen and failed to reasonably help meet the credit needs of the communities served by the bank in the host state. Since the bank must fail both the LTD ratio screen and the credit needs determination to be in noncompliance with section 109, the OCC has an obligation to apply the LTD ratio screen before seeking sanctions, regardless of the regulatory burden imposed. Thus, if a bank receives an adverse credit needs determination, the LTD ratio screen must be applied even if the data necessary to calculate the appropriate ratio are not readily available. Consequently, the OCC is required to obtain the necessary data to calculate the bank's statewide LTD ratio before sanctions are imposed.

If a bank fails both steps of the section 109 evaluation, the statute outlines sanctions that the appropriate agency can impose. The sanctions are:

- Ordering the closing of the interstate branch or branches in the host state.
- Prohibiting the bank from opening a new branch in the host state.

Sanctions, however, may not be warranted if a bank provides reasonable assurances to the satisfaction of the OCC, after an opportunity for public comment, that it has an acceptable plan that will reasonably help to meet the credit needs of the communities served, or to be served. An examiner should consult with the appropriate deputy comptroller and the Compliance Policy

Department before discussing possible sanctions with any bank. Also, before sanctions are imposed, the agencies stated in the preamble to the final 1997 regulation that they intend to consult with state banking authorities. In addition, the bank must receive notice and the opportunity for a hearing before the OCC orders the bank to close any covered interstate branch.

Background and Summary

The Children's Online Privacy Protection Act of 1998 (COPPA) (15 USC 6501 et seq.) addresses the collection, use, or disclosure of personal information that is collected from children through Web sites or other online services. On November 3, 1999, the FTC issued a regulation (16 CFR 312), which implements COPPA. The regulation became effective on April 21, 2000.

Financial institutions are subject to COPPA if they operate a Web site(s) or online service(s) (or portion thereof) directed to children, or have actual knowledge that they are collecting or maintaining personal information from a child online. COPPA grants each of the federal financial regulatory agencies enforcement authority over the institutions they supervise under 12 USC 1818.

Financial institutions that do not currently operate a Web site or online service directed to children, or do not have actual knowledge that they are collecting or maintaining personal information from a child online, are not subject to COPPA and will not be subject to COPPA examinations by the OCC. However, financial institutions are urged to review their Web sites and their online information collection practices to ensure that they do not inadvertently trigger the provisions of this act.

Definitions

Child, children: (An) individual(s) younger than 13.

Personal information: Individually identifiable information about an individual collected online, including first and last name, home address, e-mail address, telephone number, social security number, or any combination of information that permits physical or online contact.

General Requirements

The regulation requires an operator of a Web site or online service directed to a child, or any operators who have actual knowledge that they are collecting or maintaining personal information from a child, to:

- Provide a clear, complete, and understandably written notice to the parent and on the Web site or online service of their information collection practices with regard to children, describing how the operator collects, uses, and discloses the information (16 CFR 312.4);
- Obtain, through reasonable efforts and with limited exceptions, verifiable parental consent prior to the collection, use, or disclosure of personal information from children (16 CFR 312.5);
- Provide a parent, upon request, with the means to review and have deleted the personal information collected from his or her child and to refuse to permit its further use or maintenance (16 CFR 312.6);
- Limit collection of personal information for a child's online participation in a game, prize offer, or other activity to information that is reasonably necessary for the activity (16 CFR 312.7); and
- Establish and maintain reasonable procedures to protect the confidentiality, security, and integrity of the personal information collected from children (16 CFR 312.8).

Notice on the Web Site

Placement of Notice (16 CFR 312.4(b)(1))

An operator of a Web site or online service directed to children must post a link to a notice of its information practices with regard to children on its home page and at each area on the site or service where it collects personal information from any child. An operator of a general-audience Web site that has a separate children's area must post a link to its notice on the home page of the children's area.

These links must be placed in a clear and prominent location on the home page of the Web site or online service. To make a link clear and prominent, a financial institution may, for example, use a larger font size in a different color on a contrasting background. A link in small print at the bottom of a home page that requires visitors to scroll down the page does not satisfy the clear and prominent guidelines.

Content (16 CFR 312.4(b)(2))

The notice must state among other requirements all of the following:

- The name, address, telephone number, and e-mail address of all operators collecting or maintaining personal information from any child through the Web site or online service.
- The types of personal information collected from any child and how the information is collected.
- The way the operator uses, or may use, the personal information.
- A statement of whether the operator discloses information collected to third parties. If it does, the notice must state the types of businesses engaged in by the third parties, the purposes for which the information is used, and whether the third parties have agreed to maintain the confidentiality, security, and integrity of the information. In addition, the notice must state that the parent has the option to consent to the collection and use of the information without consenting to the disclosure of the information to third parties.
- That there is a prohibition against requiring, as a condition of participation in an activity, that a child disclose more information than is reasonably necessary to participate in such activity.
- That a parent has a right to review his or her child's personal information, have it deleted, and refuse to allow any further collection or use of the child's information, and state the procedures for doing so.

Notice to a Parent (16 CFR 312.4 (c))

An operator is required to obtain verifiable parental consent before any collection, use, or disclosure of personal information from any child can be made. An operator also must make reasonable efforts to provide a parent with notice of the operator's information practices with regard to children, as described above, and in the case of a notice seeking consent, all of the following additional information:

- The operator's wishes to collect personal information from the parent's child.
- The requirement of the parent's consent for the collection, use, and disclosure of the information.
- The way(s) the parent can provide consent.

Internal Uses (16 CFR 312.5(b))

Financial institutions that use the personal information solely for internal purposes may use e-mail to get parental consent, provided the operator takes additional steps to verify that a parent is the person providing consent, such as by confirming receipt of consent by e-mail, letter, or telephone call. Operators who use such methods must provide notice that the parent can revoke consent.

Disclosure to Others (16 CFR 312.5(b))

Disclosure of a child's personal information to others (e.g., chat rooms, message boards, and third parties) presents greater risk to a child's privacy, and requires a more reliable method of consent. The method used to obtain verifiable parental consent must be reasonably calculated, in light of available technology, to ensure that the person providing the consent is the child's parent. Methods that satisfy this requirement include:

- Obtaining a signed consent form from a parent via postal mail or facsimile.
- Accepting and verifying a parent's credit card number.
- Taking a parent's call, through a toll-free telephone number staffed by trained personnel.
- Receiving a parent's e-mail, accompanied by a digital signature.
- Receiving an e-mail from a parent that is accompanied by a personal identification number (PIN) or password obtained through one of the methods mentioned above.

Disclosures to Third Parties (16 CFR 312.5(a))

A parent may permit an operator of a Web site or online service to collect and use information about a child while prohibiting the operator from disclosing the child's information to third parties. An operator must give a parent this option.

Parental Consent to Material Changes (16 CFR 312.5(a))

The operator must send a new notice and request for consent to a parent if there is a material change in the collection, use, or disclosure practices to which a parent has previously agreed.

Exceptions to Prior Parental Consent Requirement (16 CFR 312.5(c))

A financial institution does not need prior parental consent when it is collecting any of the following:

- A parent's or child's name or online contact information solely to obtain consent or to provide notice. However, if the operator has not obtained parental consent after a reasonable time period from the date of the information collection, the operator must delete such information from its records.
- A child's online contact information solely to respond to, on a one-time basis, a specific request from the child, if the information is not used to re-contact the child, and is deleted by the operator.
- A child's online contact information to respond more than once to a specific request of the child (e.g., a request to receive a monthly online newsletter), when the operator does not use the information to contact the child beyond the scope of the request, and a parent is notified and allowed to request that the information not be used further.
- The name and online contact information of the child to be used solely to protect the child's safety.
- The name and online contact information of the child solely to protect the security of the site, to take precautions against liability, or to respond to judicial process, law enforcement agencies, or an investigation related to public safety.

Right to Review Information (16 CFR 312.6)

An operator of a Web site or online service is required to provide to a parent a means by which he or she can obtain any personal information collected from his or her child by that operator. At a parent's request, an operator must provide a parent with a description of the types of personal information it has collected from the child and an opportunity to review the information collected from the child.

Before a parent can review a child's information, the operator must take steps to ensure that the person making the request is the child's parent. An operator or its agent will not be held liable under any federal or state laws for any disclosures made in good faith and following reasonable procedures to verify a requester's identity in responding to a request for disclosure of personal information. These methods might include requiring a parent to use a credit card in connection with a transaction; having a parent call a toll-free number staffed by trained personnel; using a digital certificate that uses public key technology; or using e-mail accompanied by a PIN or password.

The regulations allow parents to refuse to permit an operator to continue to use or to collect their child's personal information in the future and to instruct the operator to delete the information. If a parent does so, an operator may terminate its service to that child.

Confidentiality, Security, and Integrity of Personal Information Collected from a Child (16 CFR 312.8)

The operator of a Web site or an online service is required to establish and maintain reasonable procedures to protect the confidentiality, security, and integrity of personal information collected from any child.

Safe Harbor (16 CFR 312.10)

Industry groups, financial institutions or others may establish, with the FTC's approval, a self-regulatory program. An operator of a Web site or online service that complies with FTC-approved self-regulatory guidelines will receive a "safe harbor" from the requirements of COPPA and the regulation.

To be approved by the FTC, self-regulatory guidelines must include a requirement that operators subject to the guidelines implement substantially similar requirements that provide the same or greater protections for a child as the FTC regulation (16 CFR 312.2-9). These guidelines also must include an effective, mandatory mechanism for assessing operators' compliance, as well as incentives to ensure that an operator will comply.

Background and Summary

Under the Controlling the Assault of Non-Solicited Pornography and Marketing Act of 2003 (CAN-SPAM or Act),<sup>24</sup> the FTC is charged with issuing regulations for implementing CAN-SPAM.<sup>25</sup> The FTC has issued regulations, effective March 28, 2005, that provide criteria to determine the primary purpose of e-mail messages. The FTC has also issued regulations that contain criteria pertaining to warning labels on sexually oriented materials, which became effective May 19, 2004.

The goals of the act are:

- To reduce spam and unsolicited pornography by prohibiting senders of unsolicited commercial e-mail messages from disguising the source and content of their messages.
- To give consumers the choice to cease receiving a sender's unsolicited commercial e-mail messages.

The act granted the OCC, FDIC, Federal Reserve Board, and the Office of Thrift Supervision enforcement authority under section 8 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act. The National Credit Union Association was granted authority through the Federal Credit Union Act (12 USC 1751).

The FTC has researched and determined that a "Do Not Spam" registry (similar to the highly effective "Do Not Call" registry) would not be effective or practicable at this time.

<sup>25</sup> Final rules relating to the established criteria for determining when the primary purpose of an e-mail message is commercial were published in the Federal Register on January 19, 2005 (70 FR 3110). Final rules relating to governing the labeling of commercial e-mail containing sexually oriented material were published in the Federal Register on April 19, 2004 (69 FR 21024). A notice of proposed rulemaking relating to definitions, implementation, and reporting requirements under the CAN-SPAM Act was published in the Federal Register on May 12, 2005 (70 FR 25426).

Definitions

Affirmative consent (commercial e-mail message):

- The recipient expressly consented to receive the message, either in response to a clear and conspicuous request for such consent or at the recipient's own initiative; and
- If the message is from a party other than the party to which the recipient communicated such consent, the recipient was given clear and conspicuous notice at the time the consent was communicated that the recipient's e-mail address could be transferred to such other party for the purpose of initiating commercial e-mail messages.

Commercial e-mail message: Any e-mail message the primary purpose of which is to advertise or promote for a commercial purpose, a commercial product or service (including content on the Internet). An e-mail message would not be considered to be a commercial e-mail message solely because such message includes a reference to a commercial entity that serves to identify the sender or a reference or link to an Internet Web site operated for a commercial purpose.

Dictionary attacks: Obtaining e-mail addresses by using an automated means that generates possible e-mail addresses by combining names, letters, or numbers into numerous permutations.

Harvesting: Obtaining e-mail addresses using an automated means from an Internet Web site or proprietary online service operated by another person, when such service or person, at the time the address was obtained, had provided a notice stating that the operator of such Web site or online service would not give, sell, or otherwise transfer electronic addresses.

Header information: The source, destination, and routing information attached to the beginning of an e-mail message, including the originating domain name and originating e-mail address.

Hijacking: The use of automated means to register for multiple e-mail accounts or online user accounts from which to transmit, or enable another person to transmit, an unlawful commercial e-mail message.

Initiate: To originate, transmit, or procure the origination or transmission of such message, but shall not include actions that constitute routine conveyance. For purposes of the act, more than one person may be considered to have initiated the same message.

Primary purpose: The FTC's regulations provide further clarification regarding determination of whether an e-mail message has "commercial" promotion as its primary purpose (16 CFR 316.3):

- The primary purpose of an e-mail message will be deemed to be commercial if it contains only the commercial advertisement or promotion of a commercial product or service (commercial content).
- The primary purpose of an e-mail message will be deemed to be commercial if it contains both commercial content and "transactional or relationship" content (see below for definition) if either:
  - A recipient reasonably interpreting the subject line of the e-mail message would likely conclude that the message contains commercial content; or
  - The e-mail message's "transactional or relationship" content does not appear in whole or substantial part at the beginning of the body of the message.
- The primary purpose of an e-mail message will be deemed to be commercial if it contains both commercial content as well as content that is not transactional or relationship content, if a recipient can reasonably conclude by interpreting either:
  - The subject line of the e-mail message that the message contains commercial content; or
  - The body of the e-mail message that the primary purpose of the message is commercial.

Background and Summary

The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has issued regulations that establish a national “Do-Not-Call” registry<sup>26</sup> and other requirements pursuant to the Telephone Consumer Protection Act of 1991 (TCPA).<sup>27</sup> The FCC regulations detail certain requirements for entities making telemarketing calls, such as complying with do-not-call list requirements, keeping to a maximum number of abandoned calls, and transmitting caller ID information. The regulations also detail the FCC’s unsolicited facsimile advertising requirements, which were modified by the Junk Fax Prevention Act of 2005 and became effective on July 9, 2005. The FCC regulations were generally effective as of October 1, 2003.

The FCC regulations apply to banks, insurance companies, credit unions, and savings associations. The FTC’s telemarketing regulations parallel the FCC regulations<sup>28</sup> and apply to all other business entities, including third parties acting as agent or on behalf of a financial institution.

Definitions

Abandoned call: A telephone call that is not transferred to a live sales agent within two seconds of the recipient’s completed greeting.

Automatic telephone dialing system and autodialer: Equipment that has the capacity to store or produce telephone numbers to be called using a random or sequential number generator and the capability to dial such numbers.

<sup>27</sup> 47 USC 227. The FCC’s final regulations were published in the Federal Register on July 25, 2003 (68 FR 44144). The regulations were modified several times. See 68 FR 59131 (October 14, 2003); 69 FR 60311 (October 8, 2004); 70 FR 19337 (April 13, 2005); 71 FR 25977 (May 3, 2006); 71 FR 56893 (September 28, 2006); 71 FR 75122 (December 14, 2006).

<sup>28</sup> The FTC’s final regulations were published in the Federal Register on January 29, 2003 (68 FR 4580).

Established business relationship for the purpose of telephone solicitations:

A prior or existing relationship between a person or entity and a residential subscriber based on the subscriber's purchase or transaction with the entity within the 18 months immediately preceding the date of the telephone call or on the basis of the subscriber's inquiry or application regarding products or services offered by the entity within the three months immediately preceding the date of the call, and neither party has previously terminated the relationship. The established business relationship does not extend to an affiliate unless the subscriber would reasonably expect them to be included given the nature and type of goods or services offered by the affiliate and the identity of the affiliates.

Established business relationship for purposes of sending of facsimile (or fax) advertisements:

A prior or existing relationship formed by a voluntary two-way communication between a person or entity and a business or residential subscriber, on the basis of an inquiry, application, purchase, or transaction by the business or residential subscriber regarding products or services offered by such person or entity, which relationship has not been previously terminated by either party.

Facsimile broadcaster: A person or entity that transmits messages to telephone fax machines on behalf of another person or entity for a fee.

Residential subscriber: An individual who has contracted with a common carrier to provide telephone exchange service at a personal residence.

Seller: The person or entity on whose behalf a telephone call or message is initiated for the purpose of encouraging purchase or rental of, or investment in, property, goods, or services, which is transmitted to any person.

Telemarketer: The person or entity that initiates a telephone call or message for the purpose of encouraging the purchase or rental of, or investment in, property, goods, or services, which is transmitted to any person.

Telemarketing: The initiation of a telephone call or message for the purpose of encouraging the purchase or rental of, or investment in, property, goods, or services, which is transmitted to any person.

Telephone fax machine: Equipment that has the capacity to transcribe text or images, or both, from paper into an electronic signal and to transmit that signal over a regular telephone line, or to transcribe text or images (or both) from an electronic signal received over a regular telephone line onto paper.

Telephone solicitation: The initiation of a telephone call or message for the purpose of encouraging the purchase or rental of, or investment in, property, goods, or services, which is transmitted to any person. Telephone solicitation does not include a call or message to any person with that person’s permission, to any person with whom the caller has an established business relationship, or on behalf of a tax-exempt nonprofit organization.

Unsolicited advertisement: Any material that advertises the commercial availability or quality of any property, goods, or services that is transmitted to any person without that person’s prior express invitation or permission.

General Requirements of TCPA

The FCC regulations that implement the Telephone Consumer Protection Act of 1991 provide consumers with options to avoid unwanted telephone solicitations. The regulations address the following:

- The FCC’s adoption of a national “Do-Not-Call” registry expands coverage to entities not regulated by the FTC.<sup>29</sup>
- Under the FCC’s rules, no seller, or entity telemarketing on behalf of the seller, can initiate a telephone solicitation to a residential telephone subscriber who has registered his or her telephone number on the national Do-Not-Call registry. A safe harbor exists for an inadvertent violation of this requirement if the telemarketer can demonstrate that the violation was an error and that its routine practices include:
  - Written procedures,
  - Training of personnel,
  - Maintenance of a list of telephone numbers excluded from contact,
  - Use of a version of the national Do-Not-Call registry obtained no more than 31 days prior to the date any call is made (with records to document compliance), and
  - A process to ensure that it does not sell, rent, lease, purchase, or use the Do-Not-Call database in any manner except in compliance with regulations (47 CFR 64.1200(c)(2)(i)).

<sup>29</sup> By doing so, the FCC asserts its considerably broader jurisdiction over telemarketing than the FTC. Specifically, telemarketing by in-house employees of banks, savings associations, and credit unions, as well as other areas of commerce, are covered by the FCC’s authority.

the person or entity may be contacted. The telephone number provided may not be a 900 number or any other number for which charges exceed local or long distance transmission charges.

- Affiliated persons or entities. In the absence of a specific request by the subscriber to the contrary, a residential subscriber’s do-not-call request shall apply to the particular business entity making the call (or on whose behalf a call is made), and will not apply to affiliated entities unless the consumer reasonably would expect them to be included given the identification of the caller and the product being advertised.
- Maintenance of do-not-call lists. A person or entity making calls for telemarketing purposes must maintain a record of a consumer’s request not to receive further telemarketing calls. A do-not-call request must be honored for five years from the time the request is made (47 CFR 64.1200(d)(1)-(6)).
- All telemarketers must transmit caller ID information, when available, and must refrain from blocking any such transmission(s) to the consumer (47 CFR 64.1601(e)).<sup>30</sup>
- Unsolicited fax transmissions must not be sent unless the sender has both (a) an established business relationship with the recipient, and (b) the number of the facsimile machine, received through the recipient’s voluntary communication of that number or through an Internet site to which the recipient voluntarily made its facsimile number available for public dissemination (47 CFR 64.1200(a)(3)).
- Such fax transmissions must contain a notice informing the recipient of the right to opt out of receiving future unsolicited fax advertisements and the means by which the recipient may do so (47 CFR 64.1200(a)(3)(iii)).
- The sender must honor requests to opt out that meet the criteria detailed in the regulation (47 CFR 64.1200(a)(3)(v), (vi)).
- Tax-exempt nonprofit organizations are not required to comply with the do-not-call provisions of the TCPA (47 CFR 64.1200(d)(7)).

<sup>30</sup> The rule sets forth the technical information that must be made available (subject to differing technologies). The FCC stated that caller ID information should also increase accountability and provide an important resource for the FCC and FTC in pursuing enforcement actions against TCPA violators (68 FR 44166, July 25, 2003).

Laws

47 USC 227, Telephone Consumer Protection Act and Junk Fax Prevention Act

Other Consumer Protection Laws and Regulations

Limitations on Terms of Consumer Credit Extended to Servicemembers and Dependents

Replaced by Comptroller's Handbook – Military Lending Act

Background and Summary

The Department of Defense (DOD) regulations implementing the consumer protection provisions of the John Warner National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2007<sup>31</sup> contain limitations and requirements for certain types of consumer credit extended to active duty service members and their spouses, children, and other dependents (covered borrowers). The regulation covers “payday loans,” “vehicle title loans,” and “tax refund anticipation loans,” as defined by DOD (covered transactions), and applies to all persons who meet the definition of creditor in Regulation Z<sup>32</sup> who are engaged in the business of extending such credit and their assignees.

For covered transactions, the DOD rule limits the amount that a creditor can charge, including interest, fees, and charges imposed for credit insurance, debt cancellation and suspension, and other credit-related ancillary products sold in connection with the transaction. The total charges must be expressed as a total dollar amount and as an annualized rate referred to as the “military annual percentage rate” or “MAPR,” which may not exceed 36 percent. The MAPR includes charges that are not included in the finance charge or annual percentage rate (APR) disclosed under the Truth in Lending Act (TILA), and must be separately disclosed for covered transactions. Among other provisions, the DOD rule:

- Provides a safe harbor and model form for creditors to use in connection with identifying covered borrowers,
- Requires creditors to provide written and oral disclosures in addition to those required by TILA,

<sup>32</sup> 15 USC 1602(f). Among other things, Regulation Z, 12 CFR 226, which implements the Truth in Lending Act (TILA), states that a creditor is one who “regularly” extends credit to consumers that is subject to a finance charge or is payable by written agreement in more than four installments and to whom the obligation is initially payable. A creditor making loans not secured by dwellings extends credit regularly if it makes more than 25 loans a year 12 CFR 226.2(a)(17).

- Prohibits certain loan terms, such as prepayment penalties, mandatory arbitration clauses, and unreasonable legal notice requirements, and
- Restricts loan rollovers and refinancings.

Creditors that knowingly violate the rule may be subject to criminal penalties, and a credit agreement that is prohibited under the rule is void from inception. The final rule took effect on October 1, 2007, and applies to covered transactions that are consummated on or after that date.

Definitions

Consumer credit: Consumer credit means closed-end credit offered or extended to a covered borrower primarily for personal, family, or household purposes for payday loans, motor vehicle title loans, and tax refund anticipation loans, as defined below.

- Payday loans—Closed-end credit:
  - With a term of 90 days or fewer;
  - In which the amount financed does not exceed $2,000; and
  - In which the covered borrower receives funds from and incurs interest and/or is charged a fee by a creditor, and contemporaneously with the receipt of funds
    - Provides a check or other payment instrument to the creditor, who agrees not to deposit or present it for more than one day; or
    - Authorizes the creditor to initiate a debit to the borrower's deposit account by electronic fund transfer or a remotely created check after one or more days.
- Motor vehicle title loans—Closed-end credit:
  - With a term of 181 days or fewer, and
  - Is secured by the title to a motor vehicle that has been registered for use on public roads and is owned by the covered borrower (other than a purchase-money transaction).
- Tax refund anticipation loans—Closed-end credit in which the covered borrower expressly:
  - Grants the creditor the right to receive all or part of the covered borrower's income tax refund, or
  - Agrees to repay the loan with the proceeds of the covered borrower's refund.

Covered borrower: A person with the following status at the time he or she becomes obligated on a covered transaction:

- A regular or reserve member of the Air Force, Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard, serving on active duty or under a call or order that does not specify a period of 30 days or fewer, or such a member serving on Active Guard and Reserve Duty as that term is defined in 10 USC 101(d)(6); or
- The member's spouse; child, as defined in 38 USC 101(4); or a person for whom the member provided more than one-half of the person's support for 180 days immediately preceding an extension of a covered transaction.

Creditor: Any person who meets the definition of creditor under Regulation Z<sup>33</sup> who is engaged in the business of extending consumer credit covered by the rule.

Note: Instead of including assignees in the definition of "creditor," the rule specifically refers to assignees in each section of the rule that would apply to an assignee.

Military annual percentage rate (MAPR): The cost of the consumer credit transaction expressed as an annual rate. The MAPR for covered transactions may not exceed 36 percent, unless a lower limit applies.<sup>34</sup>

- Calculation of the MAPR—The MAPR shall be calculated based on the costs in this definition but, in all other respects, it shall be calculated and disclosed following the rules used for calculating the APR for closed-end credit under Regulation Z (Truth in Lending, 12 CFR 226).
- Cost Elements—The MAPR includes the following cost elements associated with the extension of a covered transaction if they are financed, deducted from the proceeds of the covered transaction, or otherwise required to be paid as a condition of the credit:
  - Interest, fees, credit service charges, and credit renewal charges;

<sup>34</sup> DOD rules also prohibit an institution from imposing an MAPR except as authorized by applicable state or federal law. Depending on the type of institution, different state or federal laws may govern the maximum rates and fees that the institution may impose for consumer credit transactions covered by the DOD rules, but in no instances may such rates and fees exceed the 36 percent MAPR cap contained in the DOD rules.

Expanded Procedures– Homeowners Protection Act

Objective: Determine the bank’s level of compliance with the Homeowners Protection Act of 1998 (HPA), as amended.

1. Obtain a sample of recent residential mortgage transactions, including those serviced by the bank and conducted electronically, if applicable. Complete the Homeowners Protection Act Worksheet. Also, obtain a copy of the bank’s disclosure and notification forms and policies and procedures to complete the worksheet. As applicable, the forms should include:
  - Initial disclosures for fixed-rate mortgages, adjustable-rate mortgages, high-risk loans, and lender-paid mortgage insurance.
  - Annual notices for fixed and adjustable-rate mortgages, high-risk loans, and existing residential mortgages.
  - Notices of cancellation, termination, grounds for not canceling private mortgage insurance (PMI), grounds for not terminating PMI, cancellation date for adjustable-rate mortgages, and termination date for lender-paid mortgage insurance.
2. Using the above sample of recent transactions and bank policies and procedures, determine whether borrowers were not charged for any required disclosures or notifications (12 USC 4906).
3. Obtain and review a sample of recent written requests from borrowers to cancel their PMI on non-high-risk residential mortgage transactions. Verify that the insurance was canceled on either: (a) the date on which the principal balance of the loan was first scheduled to reach 80 percent of the original value of the property based on the initial amortization schedule (in the case of a fixed-rate loan) or the amortization schedule then in effect (in the case of an adjustable-rate loan); or (b) the date on which the principal balance of the loan actually reached 80 percent of the original value of the property based on actual payments, in accordance with the applicable provisions in 12 USC 4902(a) of HPA (i.e., good payment history, current payments, and, if required by the lender, evidence that the value of the mortgaged property did not decline, and certification that the borrower’s equity was unencumbered by a subordinate lien) (12 USC 4902(a)).
4. Obtain and review a sample of non-high-risk PMI residential mortgage transactions when the borrower did not request cancellation. Select loans from the sample that have reached a 78 percent or lower loan-to-value (LTV) ratio based on the original value of the property and that are current. Verify that PMI was terminated, based on the initial amortization schedule (in the case of a fixed-rate loan) or the amortization schedule then in effect (in the case of an adjustable-rate loan) on the date that the principal balance of the loan was first scheduled to reach 78 percent of the original value of the mortgaged property (if the borrower was current) or on the first day of the first month after the date that the borrower became current (12 USC 4902(b)).

5. Obtain a sample of PMI-covered residential mortgage transactions (including high-risk loans, if any) that are at or beyond the midpoint of their amortization period. Determine whether PMI was terminated by the first day of the following month if the loan was current. If the loan was not current at the midpoint, determine that PMI was terminated by the first day of the month following the day the loan became current. If, at the time of the examination, a loan at the midpoint is not current, determine whether the financial institution is monitoring the loan and has systems in place to ensure that PMI is terminated when the borrower becomes current (12 USC 4902(c) and 12 USC 4902(g)(2)).
6. Obtain a sample of any lender-defined high-risk PMI residential mortgage transactions that have a 77 percent or lower LTV based on the original value of the property. Verify that PMI was canceled, based on the initial amortization schedule (in the case of a fixed-rate loan) or the amortization schedule then in effect (in the case of an adjustable-rate loan), on the date that the principal balance of the loan was scheduled to reach 77 percent of the original value of the mortgaged property (12 USC 4902(g)(1)(B)).
7. Obtain a sample of loans that have had PMI canceled or terminated (the samples obtained above can be used). For PMI loans canceled upon the borrowers' requests, determine that the financial institution did not require any PMI payment(s) beyond 30 days of the borrower satisfying the evidence and certification requirements to cancel PMI (12 USC 4902(e)(1)). For the PMI loans that received automatic termination or final termination, determine that the financial institution did not require any PMI payment(s) beyond 30 days of termination (12 USC 4902(e)(2) and 12 USC 4902(e)(3)).
8. Using the samples in procedures 5, 6, and 7, determine if the financial institution returned unearned premiums, if any, to the borrower within 45 days after cancellation or termination (12 USC 4902(f)(1)).

If, under the self-regulatory program, an independent assessment found the institution in compliance with COPPA, or no assessment has yet been made, no further examination for COPPA is necessary. If, however, the independent assessment found the institution not in compliance with COPPA and the institution has not taken appropriate corrective action, complete the Children’s Online Privacy Act Worksheet.
